Nicholas (Nico) Lima is a printmaker, painter, and installation artist. He has created two new works- paper sculptures fashioned out of potato sacks depicting scenes from Peruvian folklore.

Catamount Arts
115 Eastern Avenue

Location 3

Ann Young
Chuck Trotsky

Catamount Arts presents in the Fried Family Gallery "In a Dangerous Time", a new collection of paintings by Ann Young. Young's paintings, she says, are created in response to feelings of grim despair and strong hope she feels when looking at the world beyond her "own little sphere."

In the Rankin Gallery and Fireplace Room is a collection of new paintings by Chuck Trotsky. This new body of work intends to "shine a light on some of our troubles and on some of our hopes".

The Last Best Hope by Ann Young

A wine and cheese reception for Ann Young will be happening from 4-6pm.

Chrysalis Creative
75 Eastern Avenue

Location 4

Guided by the core values of Joy, Sustainability, Creativity, and Community, Chrysalis Creative is a community sewing hub where sewists in Vermont's Northeast Kingdom and beyond can connect, share resources and knowledge, and access equipment and supplies that are not practical, necessary, or affordable for a single sewist to own. For Final Friday, come visit the studio and make a merit badge! Make a one-of-a-kind merit badge or decorative patch, using scrap fabric, embroidery thread, and fabric markers. Celebrate an underappreciated skill, a recent triumph or a favorite pet on a patch that can be sewn or pinned to hats, bags, or jackets. Or glue your patch to a magnet and display it on your locker or fridge! This beginner-friendly textile craft is suitable for ages 8+. Open from 4-6pm.
